

Claudio Mele

Nationality: Italian

Email: claudio.mele.rio@hotmail.com

Website: www.claudiomele.com

Personal Statement

I am an Italian economist and Jungian psychoanalyst based in Switzerland, whose professional trajectory has evolved from international finance to analytical psychology. This transition emerged from a personal and vocational calling to engage more deeply with the human psyche, leading to extensive clinical training and academic inquiry.

My research interests centre on the clinical and cultural applications of Jungian and post-Jungian theory, particularly the dynamics of the collective. I am especially drawn to the relationship between analytical psychology and Latin American cultural and spiritual traditions.

Education and Training

- Diploma in Analytical Psychology, CG Jung Institute, Zurich (2017–2022)
- Economics, Università La Sapienza, Rome (1981–1985)

Professional Experience

- Private Practice, Zurich – Jungian Psychotherapy (2020–present)
- Caritas, Germany – Psychotherapy with Political Refugees (2020–2023)
- CG Jung Ambulatorium, Zurich – Clinical Practice (2020–2022)
- Generali Group, Brazil – Chief Financial Officer, Regional Office Americas (2014–2017)
- Generali Group, Argentina – Regional General Manager, Latin America (2006–2014)
- Generali Group, Argentina – General Manager, CFO, and Technical Officer (1998–2006)
- Generali Group, Brazil – Vice President and CFO (1986–1997)

Academic and Research Activities

- CG Jung Institute Zurich
- International Association for Analytical Psychology (IAAP)
- ARPA (Associazione per la Ricerca in Psicologia Analitica)
- SABOF (Società di Analisi Biografica a Orientamento Filosofico)